International travel can be exciting and adventurous, but there are precautions that travelers should take to prevent potential health risks. As you plan your trip schedule an appointment at Stillwater Medical Group's International Travel Clinic. We can provide peace of mind – whether you are a student studying abroad, a business traveler, a family taking a vacation, planning an adoption, or are traveling abroad for any other reason.

The Stillwater Medical Group International Travel Clinic is licensed to provide all of the preventive international travel immunizations currently available. We provide these services in a cost-effective, timely manner, and we are conveniently located in the Stillwater Medical Group main campus. Please check with your insurance company regarding your coverage.

We are listed on the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) web site (www.cdc.gov) and the Minnesota Department of Health web site (www.health.state.mn.us) as an authorized U.S. Yellow Fever vaccine clinic.

When planning international travel, it is important to schedule your pre-travel consultation appointment well in advance of your departure date. This is because immunization schedules can sometimes run six weeks in length. Your pre-travel consultation will include an in-depth review of health and safety considerations pertinent to your itinerary, a review of your past immunizations, and administration of appropriate preventive immunizations and medication prescriptions.

We will also discuss food and water borne illness prevention, prevention of insect borne diseases, risks and benefits of travel immunizations, travel medical kit recommendations, general safety and health precautions while traveling abroad, and how to safely travel with medications and medical supplies from home. When appropriate, a post-travel consultation will be scheduled for your return.

Don't ruin your trip or risk your health. Avoid unnecessary, vaccine preventable illnesses and ailments by scheduling an international travel clinic consult today. To schedule your appointment at the Stillwater Medical Group International Travel Clinic please call (651) 439-1234 x3214.
